PRESS RELEASE

Invasion 1940: The Battle for Churchill's Manor

NRG Paintball and the Kent Rangers are pleased to announce that "Invasion 1940" will be held at NRG Paintball on the weekend of 10 June 2007. NRG paintball is situated between Sir Winston Churchill's historic Chartwell home and the position of the 'GHQ' line from where London's defence would have been undertaken. The game aims to recreate what may have happened had the Germans crossed the Channel in 1940

Players will represent either British or German forces. The game is formatted into a series of hour long point scoring 'dynamic' scenarios. Depending on the result of a scenario, one of several different subsequent scenarios will be played. This allows players and commanders to seize the initiative and allows the game to break away from a linear script whereby events happen at certain times irrespective of the state of play. The whole of the game field will be in play for each scenario with players being able to take advantage of the many buildings and vehicles present at NRG. Players are allowed to re-spawn from designated points if they are eliminated.
